Training Students for a Lifetime of Service

INSTITUTE OF MINISTRY

We are excited about the opportunity that God has given Northland to help train and equip students who have a desire to learn more about God and to impact the world for the Gospel.

► Why Northland?

Training Students for a Lifetime of Service

The Northland Institute hosts a uniquely different, residential Bible program that allows students to earn a one or two year certificate.

On-Site Experience

There is nothing more effective than the practical and personal participation a residential program can provide where each student is given targeted, personal attention and dynamic instruction in a conservative, Christian atmosphere. Online classes may bring a greater convenience, but they fall short of practical ministry and the life-touching-life experience.

Students that Benefit

The Northland Institute benefits those desiring to invest a year or more of their lives to increase their Bible knowledge, shape their Christian life and enhance their life skills. We invite single, Christian young people, ages 18 or older, to participate in this specialized Bible foundations and life skills training program before enlisting in the military, attending a secular college, or going directly into the workforce. The Northland Institute is also perfect for students looking for Bible training, leadership development, and vocational enrichment - after high school, during their early to mid-twenties, after military service, or after their four-year college degree.

Practical Courses for Everyday Life and Ministry

The Northland Institute has two alternating curriculums. Each block class is taught by qualified, seasoned instructors who have a heart to reach the next generation with the truth of God's Word. A sample of the potential topics would include: Bible Doctrines, Old Testament Survey, Personal Evangelism, A Survey of the Gospels, Intro to Missions, Biblical Ethics, and Creation vs. Evolution.

Life-Impacting Emphasis—We are not merely telling young people what to do; we are also showing them how to live. While one of our goals is to educate each student, the greater goal is to see young people take their block class material and practical life skills training material and develop a heart for God, a love for others, a servant's heart in ministry, and an established foundation of Bible-based principles that will guide them for the rest of their lives.

Local Church Life—The Northland Institute provides pastors a substantial and creative alternative when discussing educational and practical ministry training options with the college-age young people in their church. Each instructor possesses academic credentials, has mastered his course material, and has the ability to creatively, confidently, and passionately teach our students. The instructors are approachable, personable and inspiring, offering students encouragement to develop their walk with God and practical helps that will improve their lives and ministry effectiveness.

Soul-Winning Fervency—Giving students a chance to practically proclaim the gospel to the world should be important in any training institution. Students are thoroughly trained in evangelistic outreach and will develop a fervent passion for souls.

Teaching Excellence—Twenty-two block classes covering the essential theological and practical topics relevant to every college age student are presented in a comfortable, conference-style setting.
